Editorial

The objective of the SPA Bhopal Library is to acquire, organize and disseminate learning resources for the intellectual benefit of the SPAB community. Focusing this SPAB Library initiated SAARANSH: SPAB Library Insight to communicate various resources available in digital and print format on the selected themes as well as information on current day needs.

Design Thinking

Following the issue is dealing with the theme design thinking approach, which is an important tool to solve complex problems through analysis and imagination. This approach goes beyond traditional concerns and focuses on customer requirements and experience. It engages users actively throughout the process in prototyping, testing and refinement of the concept. It has three essential components i.e. technical feasibility, economic viability and human desirability and process involve inspiration, ideation and iteration.

Definitions

Design thinking is the search for a magical balance between business and art, structure and chaos, intuition and logic, concept and execution, playfulness and formality, and control and empowerment.

Idris Mootee CEO, Idea Couture

Design thinking can be described as a discipline that uses the designer's sensibility and methods to match people's needs with what is technologically feasible and what a viable business strategy can convert into customer value and market opportunity.

Tim Brown CEO, IDEO

Designing Learning through an Interdisciplinary Lens

Journals

Journal of Learning Design

The Journal of Learning Design was an open-access peer-reviewed multidisciplinary forum concerned with the systematic study and investigation of pedagogy and learning design in higher education, with a focus on the innovative use of technology. The Journal of Learning Design began in 2005 and closed in July 2017. This site is a searchable archive of the Journal.

The Journal was initially a project supported by the then Teaching and Learning Support Group at the Queensland University of Technology. It was first hosted at http://www.jld.qut.edu.au. Its editorship moved to the Faculty of Education in 2009. Its new URL http://www.jld.edu.au coincided with its relocation to an open journal system (OJS) platform managed by the QUT Library. It was frozen in time in August 2017.

She Ji: The Journal of Design, Economics, and Innovation

She Ji is a peer-reviewed, trans-disciplinary design journal with a focus on economics and innovation, design process and design thinking. She Ji is fully open access. Our mission is to enable design innovation in the industry, business, non-profit services, and government through economic and social value creation. Innovation requires integrating ideas, economics, and technology to create new knowledge at the intersection of different fields. She Ji provides a unique forum for such inquiry.

Journal of Design Thinking

Journal of Design Thinking is the first professional Design Journal in Iran which has been directed toward publishing the result of scientific research of researchers in different fields of Industrial Design, Design Cognition, Creativity and Design Thinking. All papers published in this journal would be evaluated by double-blind peer review and would be released in an open access format for all researchers.

Based on the scientific capacity of the society of Industrial Design in Iran, Journal of Design Thinking would act in a meta-academic way in collaboration with national and international prominent professors.

Journals

Architectural Design / Wiley (Subscribed Online)
Founded in 1930, Architectural Design (AD) is an influential and prestigious publication. It combines the currency and topicality of a newsstand journal with the rigour and production qualities of a book. With an almost unrivalled reputation worldwide, it is consistently at the forefront of cultural thought and design.

Each title of AD is presented as a thematic volume edited by an invited guest-editor, who is an international expert in their field. Renowned for being at the leading edge of design and new technologies, AD also covers topics as diverse as: architectural history and theory, the environment, interior design, landscape architecture and urban design.

Design and Culture / Taylor & Francis (Subscribed Print + Free Online)
Design and Culture reflects the state of scholarship in the field of design and nurtures new or overlooked lines of inquiry that redefine our understanding of design. The editors invite design scholars and practitioners to think critically about social justice, exclusion, and privilege, and imagine the journal as a forum that can foster rich and provocative conversations across power-differentiated communities, geographic distance, and disciplinary divides.

Design Issues / MIT Press (Subscribed Print + Free Online)
The first American academic journal to examine design history, theory, and criticism, Design Issues provokes inquiry into the cultural and intellectual issues surrounding design. Regular features include theoretical and critical articles by professional and scholarly contributors, extensive book and exhibition reviews, and visual sequences. Special guest-edited issues concentrate on particular themes, such as design history, human-computer interface, service design, organization design, design for development, and product design methodology.

Design Studies / Elsevier (Subscribed Print Only)
Design Studies is a leading international academic journal focused on developing understanding of design processes. It studies design activity across all domains of application, including engineering and product design, architectural and urban design, computer artefacts and systems design. It therefore provides an interdisciplinary forum for the analysis, development and discussion of fundamental aspects of design activity, from cognition and methodology to values and philosophy.

Harvard Design Magazine / Harvard University (Subscribed Print Only)
Harvard Design Magazine probes beyond the established design disciplines to enrich and diversify current discourse. Scholarly, poetic, and visually lush, each presents new interpretations of design's defining role in today's culture. Distinguished and unexpected voices from the fields of architecture, landscape architecture, and urban planning meet those from the realms of art, science, literature, and beyond. A space for dialogue, speculation, and surprise: Harvard Design Magazine opens a door onto the applied device of design, and the people, places, and politics it engages.
